Matthew Adams Presents Webinar at Environmental Law Institute Western Boot Camp

03.19.20

On March 26, Matt Adams will present on “Making the National Environmental Policy Act Work” at the Environmental Law Institute. The presentation will provide practical advice for navigating the project development process, as well as insights on the Council on Environmental Quality’s recent proposal to amend NEPA’s implementing regulations.

The ELI Western Boot Camp is a three-day immersion in environmental law. Designed for new and seasoned professionals, this intensive course explores the substance and practice of environmental law. Find out more information here.
