David Bannard to Moderate ACRP Webinar on Airport Operations and Safety Data

07.21.21

David Bannard will moderate an upcoming webinar focused on the importance of collecting and sharing operations and safety data, which is essential to an airport's risk management process. The Transportation Research Board hosted webinar will discuss how to benchmark and monitor data trends. The webinar will also explore how to share operations and safety data and explain why sharing this data is necessary for risk-based decision-making. Presenters will identify operations and safety data sources, explain how the data can mitigate risk, and discuss the challenges associated with collecting and sharing information with other stakeholders.

The webinar features research from ACRP Research Report 222: Collecting and Sharing of Operations and Safety Data.
